

Disability & Accessibility Services

At Ameritech College, our Student Services staff are here to help you secure the accommodations you need to succeed academically.

Ameritech College of Healthcare recognizes and accepts its obligations under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and the Section 504 Rehabilitation Act of 1973, prohibiting discrimination based on a disability and requiring the Institution to provide reasonable accommodations to qualified disabled students in all College programs and required activities

The College makes every effort to provide equal access to programs, courses, and college life by providing reasonable and appropriate accommodations.

How to Obtain Accommodations

If you have a learning disability, ADD/ADHD, physical limitations, or medical limitations, you will need to provide official documentation in order to receive special accommodations in or out of the classroom. We grant accommodations based on proper, current (within three years) clinical documentation.

Clinical Documentation Must Include:

- The date/dates of all testing
- The name, title, and professional credentials of the evaluator
- The names of the assessment instruments used, which must be appropriate for an adult population
- A clear statement of the diagnosed disability from the doctor or clinician
- A description of specific accommodation requests based on clear and specific evidence of a disability, including a description of the related functional limitations and a list of the tests and techniques used to arrive at the diagnosis
- If you have medical disabilities, appropriate documentation from a physician will be sufficient

Once our Office of Student Services reviews all clinical documentation, they will work with you to arrange for reasonable accommodations. To continue accommodations, you must meet with the Director at the beginning of each semester.

Please note that the College does not grant accommodations solely based on Individual Education Plans, letters from special education teachers, or notes from tutors. Official testing must be included.

While Ameritech College does not provide testing for the identification of learning disabilities, if you suspect you may have a disability, you may meet with the Coordinator of Disability Services to discuss options for testing by an outside agency. Ameritech College is not responsible for the cost of the testing.
